Forecast For Strathclyde
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 0400 on Thursday 18 Mar 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Mostly dry and very mild with some sunshine.

Today:
A dry, bright day inland with clouds thinning and breaking to give some good spells of sunshine. Mist and low cloud lingering over west Argyll. Very mild and feeling pleasant in afternoon sunshine. Maximum temperature 16 deg C (61 deg F).

Tonight:
Mainly dry and clear, a few fog patches developing in places. Some misty low cloud and occasional drizzle will linger across the Isles. Occasionally brisk winds along the northwest coast. Minimum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Friday:
Dry with some sunshine, mist and low cloud may linger across the Isles. Feeling pleasantly mild in the sunshine. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
A mainly dry but often cloudy few days ahead. Some brightness likely at times, feeling mild in any sunshine.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.